Behaviour Policy

“...whenever the child behaves in a way that does not please us we are ready to act. We do so out of our own good or bad humour at the moment, out of a habit of doing so, out of our principles, but rarely out of a full knowledge of what in the child’s mind has led him to do the thing we don’t like. Yet without that knowledge we cannot be sure we are dealing with him in the way most likely to help him”

Susan Isaacs 1929

Rationale

We believe that our behaviour policy is a key strategy in supporting children’s learning and development, raising achievement and working with families. It is an important part of our curriculum for Personal, Social and Emotional development which is a core area of learning in the Early Years Foundation Stage, and is closely linked to successful learning in all areas. It also forms a key part of citizenship and children learning about their role in society.

We know that children respond best where there is mutual, courtesy, kindness and respect.

We wish to promote strategies which encourage and support children’s self-esteem, empathy for others and a respect for the world in which they live. We wish to avoid strategies which may lead to fear, humiliation, guilt or rejection.

Aims

1. To promote an environment where children and adults feel safe, accepted, valued and respected and that their individual rights are upheld.
2. To develop an inclusive ethos where children and adults are happy and grow in confidence, care for each other and contribute to a sense of community.
3. To use developmentally appropriate strategies for children’s behaviour management, which encourage and support children’s self-regulation.

Key Principles

- ◆ We are positive whenever possible e.g. not “don’t run” but “remember to walk”.
- ◆ We give praise for genuine reasons.
- ◆ We will be specific in what we are praising e.g. “Thank you for telling me that X had fallen down – that was very thoughtful” helps children to understand what being thoughtful means.
- ◆ We acknowledge spontaneous kindness.
- ◆ We recognise that children need guidance on unacceptable behaviours i.e. the reasons for and support for following.
- ◆ We encourage self-discipline e.g. “I like the way X is sitting” encourages children to please the teacher but “who can show me the right way to sit?” moves the responsibility to the child. In this way children know what is expected and can build up useful habits of behaviour.
- ◆ We have high expectations of children.
- ◆ We give children choice within limits.
- ◆ We incorporate into the nursery curriculum activities to promote children’s self-esteem e.g.
 - co-operative and circle games
 - children telling others about their work
 - Records of achievement (both on their own and sharing with others)
 - celebrating individual differences and identities

We need to remember that children respond positively to adults who relate to them with empathy and affection.

Guidelines

An unjudgemental and positive approach

There are many reasons why children's behaviour may be a cause for concern and where possible we need to understand the underlying reasons i.e. difficulty in managing feelings, inappropriate role models outside nursery. Wherever possible we will employ the following strategies:

- ◆ We criticise the behaviour not the person e.g. not "you've hit someone again you naughty boy" but "Hitting hurts our friends. They may not want to play with you."
- ◆ We talk through conflicts with children and help them find solutions;
- ◆ We help children to understand the consequences of their actions e.g. "If you do X, then Y will happen, or you can choose to do A, which will result in B";
- ◆ We show them that we care about the feelings of the victim of any aggression;
- ◆ We acknowledge children's intense feelings even when they are inappropriate e.g. "I know you are feeling angry, but you made X cry";
- ◆ We look out for and discourage labelling or scapegoating of "naughty children".

Behaviour problems will be handled in a developmentally appropriate way which respects individual children's level of understanding and maturity.

Behaviour causing concern

In cases of serious misbehaviour such as racial, bullying, disablist, harm to other children or other abuse, the unacceptability of the behaviour and attitude will be made clear immediately, but by means of explanations rather than personal blame. Where a serious incident takes place it is reported to the head teacher on an incident form. Where behaviour causing concern is persistent an Individual Support Plan will be put in place.

Working as a Team

As a staff we talk through and agree ground rules – not too many – and stick to them. Staff need to have a consistent approach.

- ◆ We can talk about children's behaviour in an informal, everyday way – pass on information, discuss problems, raise queries with colleagues.
- ◆ We can work on challenging behaviour together – give each other praise and support – don't give up!

- ◆ We will talk to parents about persistent worrying behaviour at an early stage – but also about children’s good behaviour. We will allocate more time to meet with parents in these situations. We try to put difficult behaviour in context.
- ◆ If a child has said ‘You’re hurting me’ when we have guided them physically, explain to parents what you have done to keep them safe.
- ◆ We need to be aware that some kinds of behaviour may arise from a child’s special needs.
- ◆ We can use Assertive Behaviours which clearly show children what is expected of them e.g. ‘I need everyone to be quiet now’ ‘Thank you’
Or ‘When you have picked up the toy then we can have snack’ ‘thank you’
- ◆ In some cases children may have additional needs which affect behaviour and therefore an Individual Education/Behaviour Plan should be considered.

Key Strategies when dealing with behaviours causing concern

- ◆ Matching strategies to individual children
- ◆ Avoid raising voices across a distance to or at a child behaving unacceptable – walk over and speak quietly but firmly to them.
- ◆ Use eye contact and non-verbal communication – they can be more effective than words. Try to bend down to their level so you can establish eye contact.
- ◆ Always treat the child with respect – show that you are not happy about something she/he has done, but that you are not rejecting or ‘rubbishing’ her/him as a person.
- ◆ If you can see a conflict likely to develop, try to divert one or more of the children involved before it happens. That way you are giving children attention but not for inappropriate behaviour.
- ◆ Usually it is better for one member of staff to deal with an incident, although colleagues are always ready to back each other up. Sometimes two adults are needed, one to comfort the victim, the other to talk to the child behaving unacceptably.
- ◆ In a large nursery, staff need to be aware of children playing one adult off against another e.g. going the rounds asking for something that has already been refused. It is good for children to hear staff checking this out with each other. That way children see that the staff work together on being fair and consistent.

- ◆ Talk calmly and quietly to children – try not to get them over-excited. But also show that you enjoy their company and are interested in what they do and say.
